THE GGN LABEL AND PORTAL FOR CERTIFIED AQUACULTURE

Aquaculture products originating from GLOBALG.A.P. certified production processes at farm level may be labeled with the consumer-facing GGN label. The label works with unique 13-digit GLOBALG.A.P. Numbers (GGN) or Chain of Custody (CoC) Numbers that identify the source of the products and provide assurance that all products bearing the label originate from production processes certified in accordance with the GLOBALG.A.P. Integrated Farm Assurance (IFA) standard for aquaculture. These requirements align with the FAO Technical Guidelines on Aquaculture Certification and the OIE Aquatic Animal Health Code.

Printed on product packaging or displayed in fresh counters, the label allows consumers to learn more about the farms and businesses that have produced and/or processed the products from GLOBALG.A.P. certified production processes via the GGN label portal (www.ggn.org) – Discover the roots of your fish! The website also explains what good aquaculture practices are and how the farms and other businesses implement them. This direct line between the consumer and the original producer forms the basis of a chain of trust in food production.
